

USEFUL LINKS:

GENERAL SEARCH

See College Board:

<http://www.collegeboard.com/>

Sign up for SAT & SAT II, try out sample questions, begin your college search, learn what research the College Board has done on SAT scoring, apply on-line. This is a site to explore and use.

<http://www.nacacnet.org>

Click on "Students" in side bar to access "Web resources for the College-Bound". The National Association for College Admission Counseling has put together this mother lode of web resources for the college bound. Check here, as well, for information about, and access, to on-line college fairs. Click on "Students."

<http://www.Petersons.com>

Centralized college search from Peterson's

<http://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/cool/>

College Opportunities On-Line is a free site sponsored by the U.S. Dept. of Education. No cost, no registration. Just lots of valuable info.

<http://www.mit.edu:8001/people/cdemello/univ.html>

An old, but still useful site connecting to the home pages for just about any college or university to which you might want to apply.

<http://www.google.com/options/universities.html>

A great way to get into and search within individual college websites.

<http://www.campustours.com/>

Can't visit? Take virtual tour.

<https://app.commonapp.org/>

Another exceptionally useful site. You can fill out an online application to send to many schools at once. Furthermore, if you click on "College Info" (under "Member Colleges") you get links to supplements. If you click on "Download Forms," you can access a helpful table of deadlines, fees, and application requirements.

<http://www.collegeproowler.com>

For $5.95@ you can purchase student written guides to over 100 colleges.

<http://www.library.uiuc.edu/edx/rankings.htm>

Colleges ranked in any way you can imagine.